

Todd Buchholz

Todd Buchholz “lights up economics with a wickedly sparkling wit,” says the Associated Press. He recently jousting with James Carville and Ben Stein, and Successful Meetings Magazine named him one of the “21 Top Speakers for the Twentieth Century.” His editorials in the Wall Street Journal correctly forecast the 2001 slowdown in the U.S., and the New York Times has turned to him to decipher terrorist threats and the job market. “Witty, iconoclastic and engaging” says the Wall Street Journal of Buchholz, while BusinessWeek raved about his book Market Shock, which warned of quicksand facing the stock market. He entertains audiences, showing them how to thrive in a chaotic economy, while gearing up for prosperity.

A former director of economic policy at the White House, a managing director of the $15 billion Tiger hedge fund, and an award-winning economics teacher at Harvard, Buchholz targets his entertaining remarks to the cutting edge of economics, finance, and business strategy. He has been a senior economic adviser to President Bush and is a frequent commentator on ABC News, PBS, and CBS, and recently hosted his own special on CNBC. Buchholz has debated such luminaries as Lester Thurow, Robert Reich and Nobel Laureate Joseph Stiglitz. He is the Co-Founder of Enso Capital and Managing Director of Two Oceans Fund, a Panama real estate investment fund.

He has authored numerous books that have been translated into a dozen languages and are used in universities nationwide, the likes of which include Harvard, Brigham Young and Princeton. His latest books, New Ideas from Dead CEOs: Lasting Lessons from the Corner Office (Harpercollins) and a financial thriller The Castro Gene will be released in May 2007. Market Shock: 9 Economic and Social Upheavals that Will Shake Our Financial Future, was released to rave reviews and dubbed “outstanding” by the Wall Street Journal. Buchholz is also author of the best-selling New Ideas from Dead Economists, From Here To Economy, and Bringing the Jobs Home, which were lavishly praised by The New York Times and Financial Times.

Buchholz is a coproducer of the Broadway smash hit Jersey Boys, and he has penned articles for the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Forbes, and Reader’s Digest. He delivered a lecture at the White House entitled “Clarity, Honesty and Modesty in Economics,” and has been a keynote speaker before IBM, Citibank and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Before joining Tiger in 1996, Buchholz was President of the G7 Group, Inc., an international consulting firm, whose clientele included many of the top securities firms, investment banks and money managers in New York, London, and Tokyo. From 1989 to 1992 he served at the White House as a Director for Economic Policy. Buchholz won the Allyn Young Teaching Prize at Harvard and holds advanced degrees in economics and law from Cambridge and Harvard. He also holds several engineering and design patents.

Speech Topics

- Is the Economy Headed Higher -- or Off a Cliff?
- How To Compete in A Global Economy
- The Hope and Danger Behind World Politics
- China: The Threat and the Opportunity

The Economy in the Age of Obama

Todd Buchholz takes you on a tour of Washington power centers, showing you how the Obama White House will reshape the economy, Wall Street and your business.

- Who's pushing the buttons on economic policy and industry regulation?
- How will the 2008 elections shake up the tax code and international trade?
- Will the disastrous markets of 2008 create backlash against trade and investment?
- Will new environmental policies invigorate or cripple the business climate?
- Will Fed chair Ben Bernanke work hand in hand --or at odds-- with the new administration?