

Bruce Jenner

Bruce captivated the world when he broke the world record by scoring 8,634 points in the decathlon at the 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal and earned the title of "World's Greatest Athlete." His accomplishments earned him the coveted Wheaties cereal box for 7 years. In the years following his athletic achievements, Bruce has been involved in a wide variety of projects and causes. He's been a guest star on numerous primetime television programs, a commentator for NBC, ABC and Fox sports, and host of his own health show. He and his wife Kris have also produced multiple infomercials and videos. Bruce is a supporter of many charitable organizations and serves on several advisory boards. Most recently, Governor Schwarzenegger appointed him the Athletic Boxing Commissioner for the state of California.

Bruce is a highly respected and much sought-after motivational speaker, especially within the corporate sector. His message of "Finding the Champion Within," which is also the title of his latest book, is relevant to everyone, from high school students to corporate Vice Presidents. He is also an entrepreneur, commercial spokesperson, television personality, actor, producer and author. A devoted husband and father of ten, when he isn't making corporate appearances, Bruce can be found spending time with his family onscreen on E! Network's Keeping up with the Kardashians. Rated as the #1 show for the first two seasons, the series documents the daily lives of the Kardashian/Jenner family. Off screen and outside of work, Bruce finds time to enjoy his own hobbies including flying planes, racing cars in Grand Prix events and working on his golf game.

His speech topics include: Finding the Champion Within, Dreams to Decisions, The Mastermind Principle, Keys to Success.
