

The O'Shea Report

Tim and Kris O'Shea are both familiar with the fast pace of the working world. They are former corporate professionals in sales, training, and HR. But instead of going home after work, they went to their second job at night, performing in theaters and nightclubs as writers and comedians.

Tim and Kris each trained with The Second City theater company at their satellite division in Denver, Colorado. They are accomplished improvisers, stand-ups and comedic actors, and have shared the stage with cast members from Whose Line Is It Anyway and Saturday Night Live.

Combining their backgrounds as humor writers and business professionals, The O'Sheas are now internationally recognized corporate keynote speakers. They present their unique blend of business humor programs for such organizations as Nordstrom, Hewlett-Packard, Coors, State Farm, and Kaiser Permanente.

The O'Sheas were recently listed among the Top 5 Entertainment Keynote Speakers by Speakers Platform and featured in the "Top 25 Hot Speakers" by the National Speakers Association.

The O'Shea Report: Change 180

The world is changing...fast. Fast enough that by next week, the iPad will be thought of as Amish furniture.

It's time to laugh about it.

Change 180 takes you on a hilarious journey through the ups and downs of dealing with change. Through motivational humor, The O'Sheas help audiences snuggle up to change, stomp on suspicion, and open their minds to progress.

The O'Shea Report: Change 180 will help your audience laugh as they examine:

- How to change the "soap opera" of the office by changing your perspective
  - From Leave It To Beaver to texting--the evolution of communication
  - How workplace personalities the conserver, the pragmatist, and the originator deal with change
  - The value of staying current, being flexible, and creating a supportive environment
- Packed with humor and insightful tips, this keynote is ideal for organizations looking for a lighthearted way to deal with the heavy topic of change.

The O'Shea Report: Teamwork 180

If there's anybody that knows about the dynamics of successful teamwork, it's The O'Sheas. They work together, run a business together, and are married...and yet, they still haven't killed each other.

In this keynote program, The O'Sheas share the techniques that make them a successful team. Through audience interaction and relevant humor, this program will get your people feeling good about working together.

Highlights include:

- Effective communication, power struggles, and team dynamics
- The dos and don'ts of getting along at work
- Creating a supportive environment
- Building momentum as a team

In their hilarious and insightful style, The O'Sheas will show you what's funny about teams while giving you tips and techniques on how to have a successful relationship with your co-workers.
