

Vince Poscente

Is our “pause button economy” eating us alive... or setting us free? New York Times bestselling author, inductee into the Speaker Hall of Fame and Olympian, Vince Poscente has the answer.

“We will not thrive by ‘coping’ with our present economic situation. Seeking to manage our way to bottom line results is not the way. We will individually and organizationally thrive by embracing and harnessing the speed of change around us.” Vince Poscente

Now is the time to use Vince Poscente’s against-all-odds Olympic strategy for audiences challenged, overwhelmed and even – scared. Poscente’s invigorating perspective is timely and perfect for groups seeking good news.

A business guy who decided he would compete in the Olympics four years after his 26th birthday, at the age of 30 Poscente was vying for Gold, skiing at an incredible 135 mph on skis. With his acumen for fast results, he soon became a prolific author, consultant and speaker, guiding corporations around the globe toward accelerated change management.

Unraveling the notion that in today’s world we need to ‘hang-on,’ Poscente illustrates how harnessing the speed of change becomes a competitive advantage. Through powerful examples and edge of your seat stories, your audience will be energized and ready to tackle the tough challenges ahead of them.

“Simple motivation is not the only thing audiences want to hear today. My job is to light the path of how we get through this together – in short order. This starts by doing what the competition is not willing to do.”
