It's All About Family

What is the key to personal and professional success? Quite simply, it's family! If we all take the skills and knowledge we get from growing up in a family, then you have more of a head start to success than you would ever imagine. Treat each person in a work day with the same attention, eye contact, and focus you would a family member and watch that this simple change does to empower your communication abilities and your own self-confidence. Sure it helps to believe in yourself, but where do most of us gain confidence? That's right, from our families support and positive feedback from co-workers and superiors in the workplace.

Whether listening to the brilliantly simple observations of his eight-year-old daughter, learning to think outside the box from his four-year-old son, or the simple art of patience he's learned from his wife, Sutherland will take you on a hysterical journey into how we can all improve our day-to-day experiences. Thirteen-time Comedian of the Year Buzz Sutherland believes that when it comes to success in your personal or professional life...It's All About Family!
